

With Goodwill Community-Based Services, Everybody Wins.

Your company may have some simple tasks to be done that require a few hours each day, such as folding, stuffing, tagging, or cleaning. Consider hiring Goodwill to handle it. We assemble teams consisting of Goodwill trainees and one job coach. We train the employees, transport them to and from your job site, manage their time, check their work, and interface with you regarding performance. The job coach is on-site at all times to be sure the job is done right. And you never have to worry about someone calling in sick.

About Our Workers.

In our pool of nearly 300 workers, there is a wide range of developmental disabilities, but Goodwill program participants all share an eagerness to work. They are enthusiastic and dedicated, and through their jobs they earn not only a paycheck but also a sense of independence and pride. They are participating in Goodwill's Community-Based Services.

Hire Goodwill's Experience.

When you hire workers from Goodwill of Orange County, you're benefitting from one of the nation's foremost training and employment services. Goodwill provides people with disabilities and other barriers to independence with the opportunity to achieve their highest levels of personal and economic independence. For more than 85 years, our programs have provided the training and experience people need to become job-ready and employable in today's competitive labor market.

Why You Should Hire a Team from Community-Based Services.

A job well done is just one of many benefits of using Goodwill workers.

Competitive Rates.

Goodwill is able to provide quality workers at competitive rates.

100% Reliability.

With our large pool of workers, we will always be there to get the job done, guaranteed.

Timely Work.

Working in teams, our workers are able to complete large tasks in a timely manner.

On-The-Job Supervision.

A job coach supervises and works with the team to ensure accurate and thorough completion of each project or task.

Free Training.

Our job coaches quickly learn assigned tasks and train Goodwill workers at no cost to you.

Worry-Free Payroll.

The workers are on our payroll. Goodwill will bill you monthly for services. If you prefer, arrangements can be made to place the workers on your payroll as direct hires.

Tax Benefits.

Some businesses may be eligible for a tax credit through the Work Opportunity Tax Credit program (WOTC) if Goodwill workers are hired directly.

It Pays to Give Back to Your Community.

There are smart economic reasons to hire a Goodwill team, such as reliability, low wages, free training and potential tax benefits. Our customers find that we meet their business challenges in a cost-effective manner. But the best reason is the satisfaction of giving back to the community. You can see the motivation and tremendous pride Goodwill workers bring to their jobs. In fact, you may discover that it builds morale for the entire workforce in your company.
